great mijority of sailors habitually carry something of this sort about their necks.

Mr. Charles B. Faller, who died in Porland, Saturday, was one of the most entusiastic naturalists in Maine. At one time he was in correspondence with the late Prof. Agassia, and had in his possession letters from that great scientist. Mr. Fuller's specialty was marine zoology, and he might often have be n seen in fields around Portland searching for queer marine animals cast up by early monaing fides or with his camera scarching for interesting natural objects. He never published many of the results of his investigations though some of those relating to the animal and vegetable life of Portland harbor are recorded in scientific works. He was the person in that region to whom was referred each cariosity of the shore of field; and rare indeed was the occasion that his knowledge and experience were at fault. In the rooms of the Natural History Society the large and valuable collection has been principally mounted and classified by him, and after the great fire be put into the rooms nearly his whole private collection to take the place of those destroyed.

Very Like Usurpation. The most extraordinary phase of the Hawaiian "incident" is the apparently unwarranted assumption of naval and diplo-matic control by a merely personal emissary of the President, who has no. constitutional authority.

The Constitution of the United States provides that the President "shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consented of the Senate shall appoint, ambassa, "dors, other public ministers and consuls, "judges of the Supreme Court, and all "other officers of the United States whose "appointments are not herein otherwise "appointments are not herein otherwise "provided for," etc., and the joint action (Mr. Gregs, April 4, 1934.]

Secretary Blaine and His Predecessors on Our Relations with Hawaii.

Recent events and the present situation render of especial interest the exposition of the attitude and policy of the United States Government toward the Hawaiian Islands as so powerfully set forth in the instructions sent by Secretary Blaine in 1881 to Hon. James M. Comly, then U. S. inister at Honolulu. Under date of June 30th of that year, in reply to the U.S. Minister's statement that Great Britain was pressing a demand upon Hawaii for the same trade relations enjoyed by us under the special treaty of 1875, Secretary Cleaves how they reconcile this statement der the special treaty of 1875, Secretary Raise instructed Mr. Coully as follows:

You are instructed Mr. Coully as follows:
You are instructed to say to the Hawaiian Government that the Government of the United States considers this stipulation (of our exclusive privileges of free entry has of the very essence of the treaty, and cannot consent to its abrogation or modification, directly or indirectly. You will add that if any other power should deem it proper to employ under influence upon the Hawaiian Government to persuade or compleaction in derogation of this treaty, the Government of the United States will not be unobservant of its rights and interests, and will be neither unwilling nor unprepared to support the Hating nor unprepared to support the Ha-wallan (lovernment in the faithful discharge of its treaty obliga ions.

considering a reported movement of agents of Great Britain to obtain such privileges for proposed coolie inquigration from India, as might result in giv ng England undue power in the Islands, Secretary Blaine instructed Minister Comly to protest; and after setting forth very explicitly that the Government of the United States has with unverying consistency manifested respect for the independence of the "Hawaiian Kingdom," so long as a "real "and substantial independence" could be maintained, Mr. Blaine made this emphatie declaration :

The Government of the United States has always avowed, and now repeats, that under no circumstances will it permit the transfer of the territory or soverelgaty of these Islands to any of the European powers. It is needless to restate the reasons upon which that determination resus. It is too obvious for argument that the possession of these Islands by a great maritime Power would not only be a dangerous diminuition of the just and necessary influence of the United States in the waters of the Pacific, but in case of international difficulty it would be a positive threat to American interests too important breat to American interests too important to Minister Comby, Secretary Blaine gave settled policy of the United States against the establishment of foreign authority near our coast, as enunciated from the time of Secretary Webster in 1842 and Secretary Edward Everett in 1852, and after elaborately describing the peculiar situation of the Hawaiian Islands as affecting our interests, he said impressive-

If they drift from their independent station it must be toward assimilation and identication with the American system, to which they belong by the operation of natural laws, and must belong by the operation of political necessity.

And finally, after enumerating the facts and conditions that had so strengthened the peculiar ties of mutual interest between the United States and the Hawalian Islands, and expressing continued readiness to aid in maintaining its neutrality, ecretary Blaine anticipated the future exigency becoming every year more probable, by foreshadowing the policy of the United States as follows:

It, through any cause, the maintenance of such a position of neutrality should be found by Hawall to be impracticable, this Government would then unhesitatingly meet the altered situation by seeking an according American solution of the grave issues presented. That these positive expressions of Secretary Blaine were based upon long established and unequivocally expressed sentiments of the public policy of the United States, may be shown by the following as from the official correspondence of the State Department;

[Secretary Website, Dec. 18, 1812.]
Of the vessels which visit the Sandwich Islands, it is known that the great majority helps to the United States. The United States, therefore, are more inter-

Jority belong to the United States. The United States, therefore, are more interested in the fate of the islands and of their government, than any other nation can be.

Becretary Clayton, July 5, 1880.

The Hawaiian Islands hear such pecaliar relations to ourselves, that we might even feel justified, consistently with our even principles, in interfering by force to prevent their falling (by conquest) into Population, the hands of one of the great powers of Europe.

nearer to the United States than to any of the powers of Europe. Five-sixths of all their commercial intercourse is with the United States and these considerations, together with others of a more goineral character, have fixed the course which the Government of the United States will pursue in regard to them.

* That polley is that while the Government of the United States, itself faithful to its original assurance, acropulously regards the independence of the Hawaitan Islanda, it can never consent to see these islands taken possession of by either of the great commercial powers of Europe.

[Secretary Marcy, to Mr. Mason, Dec. 16, 183.]

commercial powers of Europe.

[Secretary Marcy, to Mr. Mason, Dec. 16, 1833.]

I do not think the present Hawalian Government can long remain in the hands of the present rulers or under the control of thie native inhabitants of these islands, and both England and France are apprused of our determination not to allow them to be owned, or to fall under the protection of those powers or of any other, European indicates that it should be with us.

[Mr. Marcy to Mr. Gregg, Jan. 31, 1855.]

This Government will receive the transfer of the sovereignty of the Sandwich islands with all proper provisions relative to the existing rights and interests of the people thereof, such as are usual and appropriate to territorial sovereignty.

[Mr. Fish to Mr. Pierce, Mar. 25, 1873.]

llawnii, are invested with constitutional authority by "advice and consent of the Senate," and if Mr. Blount's designation as commissioner had been specially authorized by Congress—as it was not—be could only act as an "inferior officer" to a regularly constituted U.S. Minister, or to any collect of the army or navy who had been confirmed by the Senate.

So far as the Navy is concerned, in fact, the officers of that service have never been held subject to the control or orders of even the Ministers of the United States, although they usually set in harmony. The Navy has always exercised important diplomatic functions where exigency required, and has assumed full responsibilities of the control or orders of the functions where exigency required, and has assumed full responsibilities of the control or orders of the functions where exigency required, and has assumed full responsibilities.

diplomatic functions where exigency required, and has assumed full responsibility in some notable instances, as in the famous case of Captain lugraham, who demanded and secured the surrender of Kosta by the Austrians on threat of opening fire from his ship.

The only civilians who can issue authoritative orders to the officers of the Navy, are the President and the Secretary of the Navy, who is confirmed by the Senate, and if Mr. Blount assumed in his own authority to order the Boston's officers to haul down the flag and evacuate the town, the order forcuttesy to what was supposed to be Explanation Needed.

Those Bangor critics of Governor Cleaves are catching it from all quarters. Cleaves are catching it from all quarters. The people appreciate a Governor who dares to stand up against a plundering scheme from any locality, and they are not slow to express their opinion of him or of the people who are angry because they couldn't work him to further their

The above paragraph seems to need time would have been likely to elicit some to the failure of the appropriation for the plain talk from the commander of the Eastern Maine Insane Hospital, although it is astonishing to find a paper so carried away by sec-tional prejudice as indicated by the characterization of an institution for the eare of the insane as a "plundering schemed especially when the necessity for said institution has been so generally conceded and opposed only on the ground of ecohomy.

But this is not the point. If the statement in the Express means snything it means to accredit Governor Cleaves with a clearly defined purpose to defeat the hos pital appropriation, and more than that congratulates him on the accomplishment of his purpose. This being the case we desire to ask the friends of Governor people of the whole State, has always found courteous expression, and we would suggest that it will be well for the friends On the 19th of November following, in of the Governor to call off this sort of offensive championship.

in pills, other things being equal. But, with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, nothing else is equal. They're the best, not only because they're the smallest, and the easiest to take —but hecause they do more good. They cleanse and regulate the liver, stomach and bowels in a way the buge, old fashioned pill doesn't dream of. Think of trying to requiate the system with the ordinary pill. It's only good for upsetting it.

These are mild and gentle—but thorough and effective, no pain—no griping. One little pellet for a laxative—three for a cathartic. The best Liver Pill known. Sick Head-ache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels are prevented, relieved and cured.

Put up in scaled vials—a perfect vest-pocket remedy, always conven-ient, fresh and reliable.

They're the cheapest pill you can buy for they're quaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money, is returned. It's a plan peculiar to Dr. Pierce's medicines.

You pay only for the good you ot. Can you ask more?
